

AVE 2-wire Video Intercom: 2026 new releases for an ever-evolving range

From the 5" Wi-Fi video intercom monitor and the handset to wall-mounted audio outdoor stations. Many new solutions, also available in kits.

AVE is expanding its 2-wire video intercom range with the launch of four new products. The company provides a comprehensive range, designed to meet the exact requirements for comfort, security, and ease of installation in both residential and professional settings.

5" Wi-Fi Video Intercom Monitor (art. VI2F-PIT5WF)

Connected, simple, reliable and elegant. These are the characteristics that define the new 5" Wi-Fi monitor, designed to integrate perfectly into the AVE V44 EASY 2-wire video intercom system. The integrated Wi-Fi connectivity allows for smart management of calls and access, offering a practical and modern user experience, with the added value of the reliability and solidity typical of AVE solutions. The 5" display ensures a consistently clear view, while the essential design facilitates its integration into any architectural context. Furthermore, the interface is user-friendly: highly intuitive and designed to adapt to everyone's taste thanks to the availability of four different themes.

Wall-mounted audio outdoor stations

Available in 1-call (art. VI2F-PEC1AP) and 2-call (art. VI2F-PEC2AP) versions, the new AVE outdoor intercom stations are specifically developed for wall-mounted installation. Simple, robust and compact, they stand out for:

- Installation flexibility: the small size allows them to be adapted to any construction site requirement.
- Access control: the integration of the card reader with MIFARE® technology makes opening the gate even more convenient and secure, offering a quick and practical access system for users and residents.

Intercom handset (art. VI2F-PICOR)

To complete the 2026 innovations of the V44 EASY 2-wire system, we find the new intercom handset. This solution combines cutting-edge design with high-level functionality, guaranteeing clear and reliable communications. It represents the ideal choice for those who prefer a traditional type of interaction without sacrificing aesthetics and construction quality.

A complete range, designed for the professional installer

To suit operating habits and different market needs, the new AVE products are available both as individual items and in practical kits. With these innovations for the 2-wire video intercom system, AVE confirms its commitment to the development of aesthetically pleasing and technologically advanced solutions. The result is a complete range, easy to install, flexible and perfectly integrable into modern homes, capable of offering maximum comfort to the end user and maximum reliability to the professional.

AVE V44 EASY 2-Wire video intercom range: innovation at your door.